

Help us meet the magic 1,000

Keep Scotland Tidy and Eco-Schools Scotland are joining forces to recruit 1,000 schools to take part in National Spring Clean 2010 (www.keeptscotlandtidy.org/springclean) to coincide with the anticipated 1,000th Green Flag being awarded to a Scottish school this Spring.

National Spring Clean is Scotland's biggest annual litter picking campaign, which encourages as many people as possible to take part in a voluntary litter pick at some point during the month of April. Nearly 60,000 volunteers took part in April 2009 and an astonishing 377 of the litter picks that took place involved schools – but with your help, we are confident we can rise to the challenge and treble that number to 1,000 schools demonstrating that they will not stand for litter in their neighbourhood in 2010.

Thousands of volunteers have already signed up for the 2010 campaign. To find out more about how your school can get involved and to register online, please see www.keeptscotlandtidy.org/springclean. There's a special section for 'Schools & Young People', in which you will find factsheets, activities and case studies to help you have a fun and safe event - and you can even have your own litter pick plotted on the online map of events.

75% of participants each year are children or young people.

Litter picks can also count towards your Eco-Schools award!

Help us meet the magic 1,000

Keep Scotland Tidy and Eco-Schools Scotland are joining forces to recruit 1,000 schools to take part in National Spring Clean 2010 (www.keeptscotlandtidy.org/springclean) to coincide with the anticipated 1,000th Green Flag being awarded to a Scottish school this Spring.

National Spring Clean is Scotland's biggest annual litter picking campaign, which encourages as many people as possible to take part in a voluntary litter pick at some point during the month of April. Nearly 60,000 volunteers took part in April 2009 and an astonishing 377 of the litter picks that took place involved schools – but with your help, we are confident we can rise to the challenge and treble that number to 1,000 schools demonstrating that they will not stand for litter in their neighbourhood in 2010.

Thousands of volunteers have already signed up for the 2010 campaign. To find out more about how your school can get involved and to register online, please see www.keeptscotlandtidy.org/springclean. There's a special section for 'Schools & Young People', in which you will find factsheets, activities and case studies to help you have a fun and safe event - and you can even have your own litter pick plotted on the online map of events.

75% of participants each year are children or young people.

Litter picks can also count towards your Eco-Schools award!

